

Rep. Hutchinson Moves To St. Joseph

EDWARD HUTCHINSON

Remap Sets Stage For Race With Zollar

BY JERRY KRIEGER
County-Farm Editor

With Allegan, his home county, shifted into another district by the new reapportionment plan ordered Friday, Fourth District Congressman Edward Hutchinson announced late yesterday he has established legal residence in St. Joseph and will seek a sixth term from the Fourth district.

The announcement appeared to set the stage for a head-on battle between Hutchinson and State Senator Charles Zollar for the position. Only the formal loss of Zollar's hat in the ring appeared to be lacking.

The new Fourth district boundaries, as decreed Friday by Federal District Judge Damon Keith of Detroit, will take in all of Berrien, Van Buren, Cass, Branch, Hillsdale and Lenawee counties; all of St. Joseph county but Leonidas township; and a small part of southern Calhoun county.

Allegan county, home base for Hutchinson, was shifted into a new Ninth district that stretches nearly 250 miles to the north covering 10 counties along the west coast of Michigan. In the Ninth district, Hutchinson would be paired against Congressman Guy VanderJagt of Cadillac.

In exchange for Allegan county, the new Fourth district geography was extended eastward to take in Lenawee county, to within about 20 miles of Lake Erie.

Obviously prepared for Allegan county being shifted to another district, Congressman Hutchinson announced his establishment of legal residence in St. Joseph within an hour after Judge Keith handed down his ruling in Detroit.

"I will place my nominating petitions into circulation just as soon as they can be printed," the Fennville Republican said from Washington.

An aide in his Washington offices said Hutchinson's new legal residence will be in the Merrill apartments on Lake Boulevard in St. Joseph.

With his home county sheared away, Hutchinson will be without his strongest platform of voter support in the new Fourth district. Allegan has backed him heavily ever since he first was elected to Congress in 1962.

Ironically, it was State Senator Zollar who in a last chance effort to get a redistricting plan approved in the legislature instead of the courts, insisted that Allegan county be kept in the Fourth district. Zollar's amendment would also have added the City of Kalamazoo to the Fourth district, and transferred Branch and Hillsdale counties to another district.

Zollar noted late Friday afternoon when he learned in Benton Harbor that the federal judge had taken the redistricting job out of the hands of the legislature that the new Fourth district would be more advantageous to his candidacy, if he chooses to run for Congress, than the plan he was fighting for in the legislature.

Zollar said he is not prepared yet to announce that he will run for the seat in Washington.

Move To Cut Welfare Cheats

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee has adopted new provisions in the Social Security-welfare reform bill in hopes of cutting down on welfare chiseling.

One provision would eliminate a regulation of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare that permits a welfare applicant to get on the rolls simply by filing a declaration of need. Another would require that all welfare cases be investigated thoroughly for eligibility every two years.

Democrat Redistrict Plan Ordered

GOP Expected To Lose 2 House Seats

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A federal judge, tired of legislative delays, has ordered realignment of Michigan congressional districts under a Democratic plan designed to cut the Republican advantage from 12-7 to 10-9.

Meanwhile, Republican members of the Commission on Legislative Apportionment have balked at a Michigan

Supreme Court order to vote for adoption of a Democratic plan for the state's 110 House and 38 Senate seats.

Chief Justice Thomas M. Kavanagh had no immediate comment on the commission stalemate.

U.S. District Judge Damon Keith of Detroit finally settled the congressional redistricting hassle Friday after watching the legislature wallow in futility for weeks.

It is the legislature's duty to redraw the boundaries of the state's 19 U.S. House seats. However, state elections officials said they couldn't wait forever. Boundary lines have to be set well in advance of the Aug. 8 primary election, to provide for orderly procedures and paperwork processing.

Keith heard oral arguments in mid-April on plans submitted by the Republican and Democratic parties, then waited to see whether the legislature could agree.

Friday, he said he could wait no longer. He ordered adoption of the Democratic plan, which was superior to three Republican proposals on the basis of population equality among districts.

Politically, the plan appears to favor the expected candidacies of State Sens. Daniel Cooper, D-Oak Park, and Charles Zollar, R-Benton Harbor and state Rep. Marvin Stempien, D-Livonia.

Zollar would have been alone in a new district roughly corresponding to his State Senate seat, but Rep. Edward Hutchinson's announcement that he is shifting his legal residence from Allegan county to St. Joseph means that if Zollar runs it will be against an incumbent congressman.

The plan does nothing for state Sen. John Bowman, D-Roseville, who upset party leaders with a willingness to work with Republicans for a

Flaming Crash Kills 13

BEANSTATION, Tenn. (AP) — At least 13 persons were reported killed and 16 injured early today in the flaming wreckage of a Greyhound bus and a tractor-trailer rig, which collided near this one-time stage coach station in Upper East Tennessee.

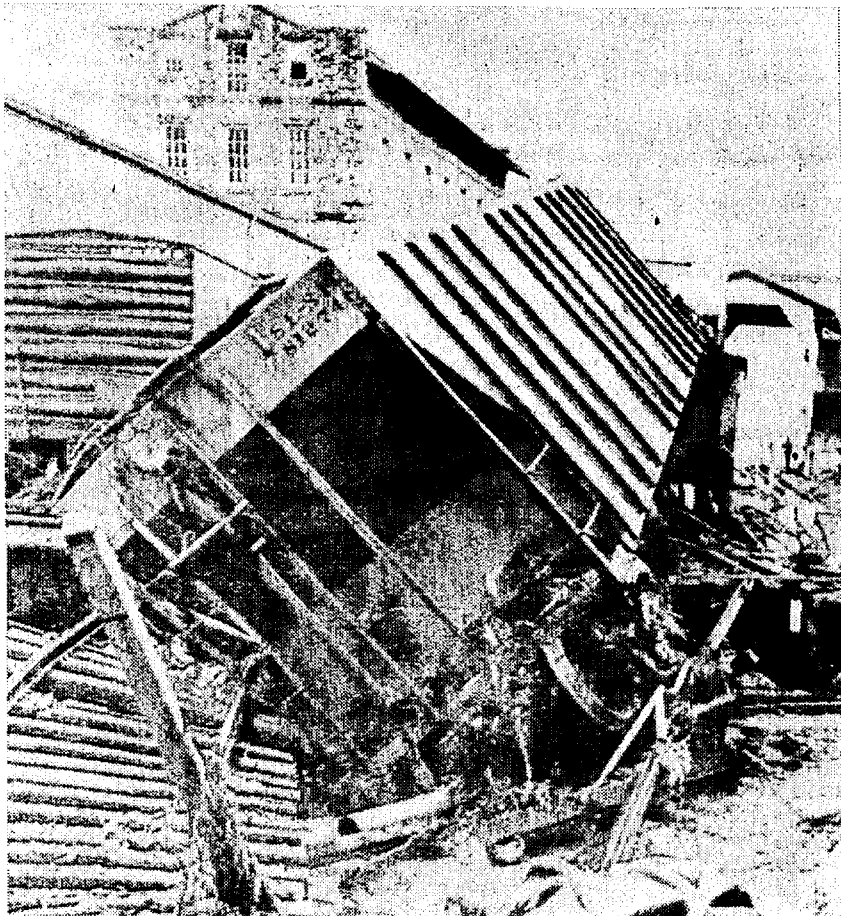

State Trooper Harold Buck said it appeared four or five babies were among the passengers on the bus, headed for Kingsport on U.S. 11-W. The bus has shattered, split in two, and the truck caught fire.

Lt. Dewey Bales of the Tennessee Highway Patrol said, "The tractor trailer was loaded with tarpaper, which caught on fire soon after the collision."

The 5 a.m. wreck occurred in front of the home of Jesse Coffee, 27, just as he was rising for the day.

"We heard what sounded like an explosion," he said. "Then everything was quiet, and all we heard was a baby crying."

He said he and his wife ran outside to find a baby, about 4 months old, lying between two adults he said were dead. The baby appeared unhurt, he said, and the Coffees kept the infant until rescue units arrived.

FLOOD DAMAGE: Flood waters from rain swollen creeks and rivers tore up a railroad track and sent a box car off the rails near Landa Park in New Braunfels, Texas. Rains up to 12 inches Thursday night and early Friday morning caused heavy damage, claimed at least 11 lives, and left two dozen persons missing.

Enjoy The Water, But Be Careful

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State Police have warned the state's water death toll will pick up with better weather for boating and swimming.

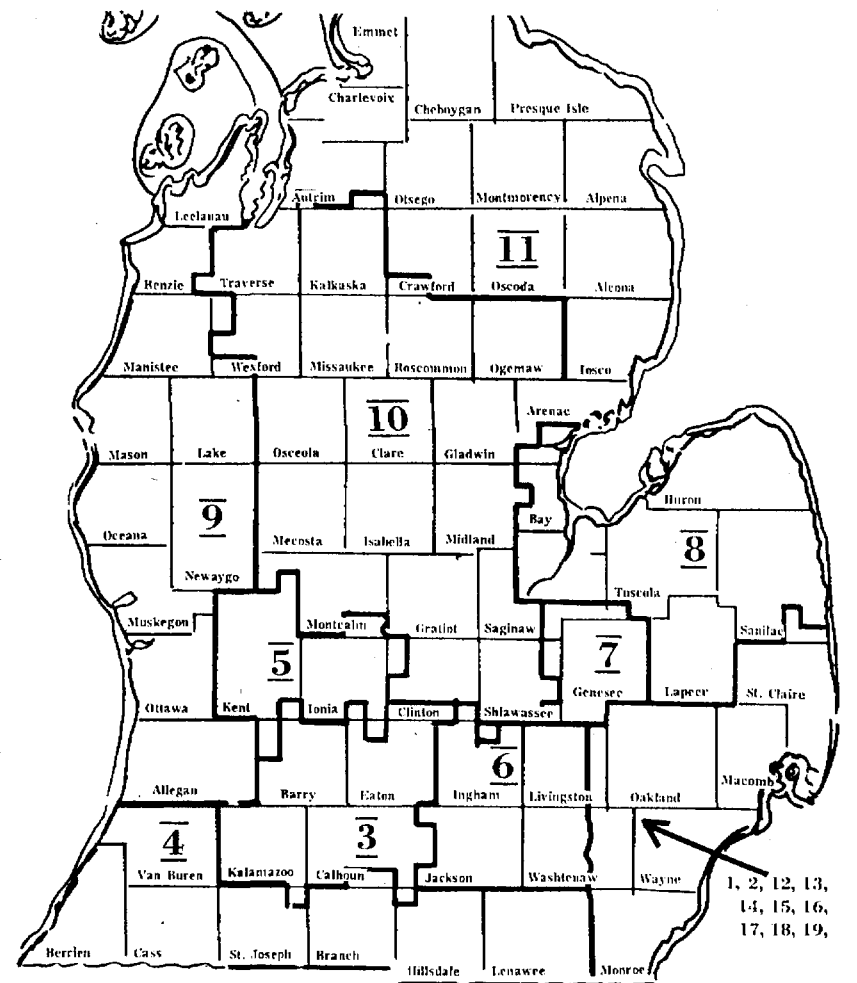

Police noted that 225 deaths among the 269 recorded last year occurred during the May-September period. The same period accounted for 212 of the 257 injuries during the year.

During the first four months of the year, police said, only 13 water deaths were recorded.

Police urged cooperation with safety training programs in an attempt to cut the annual death rate.

Bank Foreclosing On BH Elks

A $240,000 mortgage foreclosure sale notice against the four-year-old Benton Harbor Elks club golf course and clubhouse on Kerlikowske road in Hagar township, has been issued by the First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan.

At the same time, Richard Washburn of Stevensville, exalted ruler of the Benton Harbor lodge, said means of refinancing the debts are being explored. A membership meeting is planned for May 22 to discuss the matter and to consider refinancing efforts, he said.

The foreclosure notice, published in the Niles Daily Star, sets a sale date of June 7, 1972. The notice was filed on behalf of the bank by the law firm of Klute, Stone & Campbell of Niles.

The notice claims a total of $240,872.01 was due in principal and interest as of May 6.

There reportedly are other major creditors, although they were not identified immediately.

The Elks opened the expansive 18-hole golf course in the summer of 1968, and the new clubhouse in 1969.

The club project was undertaken when the lodge's old clubhouse in Benton Harbor was bought and demolished under the urban renewal program in the City of Benton Harbor.

Rich But Ragged

Although the American dollar is not the cherished currency it once was in the world market, the U.S. is looked upon as the most affluent among the nations.

Its living standard is the highest to be found anywhere and in all history.

Its GNP (gross national product), the cost of goods and services furnished in a year, equals the total of that supplied but not less than any two other countries.

Nobody, to our knowledge, has calculated its net value, but in all likelihood this exceeds any other hunk of real estate under a different flag.

Comparatively, however, this net value does not measure up percentage-wise to several nations. Basically this is the reason why the American going abroad finds he must shell out more dollars than a year ago.

Weighed in that scale, a small outfit like

Switzerland shows up much better than the U.S.

Taking as one definition of net value being total value less indebtedness, the federal government is impressive only for what it owes.

Its public debt at the end of April stood at $425.3 billion.

It is owed to a mixed bag of creditors.

The general public holds about $55 billion of it in the form of Savings Bonds. Banks have another $62 in Treasury notes. Foreign central banks hold nearly $49 billion. Insurance companies, savings and loan institutions, the better heeled charitable organizations, private investors, trust accounts and private corporations have $84 billion in their tills. Government agencies themselves control $175 billion or over 40 per cent of the total.

Washington is nearing another operating year several billion in the hole and starts another on July 1st estimated at $25.5 billion for fiscal 1972-73. This can be upped another billion if Nixon can get a jittery Congress to appropriate more for the escalated effort in Viet Nam.

Editorial Research, a Washington reporting service, likens this situation to a man who makes $22,000 a year. His accountant tells him he will have to borrow $2,600 beyond his salary to buy everything he wants in that 12-month span. He is already paying $2,000 a year interest on an accumulated debt of $42,500.

It would require searching for an extremely friendly, family banker to locate his financing.

Yet, multiplied by 10 million times, this is exactly what Uncle Sam is doing.

When the Treasury does retire $700 million in bonds on Monday, that's like our $22,000 a year executive paying $70 on his $42,500 bill.

This play now, pay later gambit started 39 years ago when the New Deal came to town.

FDR remarked in his 1932 campaign that deficits may be all right for brief periods but added, "You and I know a continuation of that habit means the poorhouse."

FDR conveniently forgot that truism and except for one year in Ike's tenure, none of his successors have recalled it.

The Washington Monthly recently published a spoof entitled The MacLeish Memorandum. It has Nixon and his top advisors wiping out the debt but "skillful administrative leadership."

Savings bonds would be retired "over a long period of program phased out." The inter-agency debt would simply be cancelled out. Debts to foreigners would be voided "by closing the foreign series security exchange operation just as the President closed the gold window last year."

The magazine's dubbed in bureaucratic language projected such an air of probability that many readers took the Memorandum to be the real thing.

It is quite an idea, but as Editorial Research said of it, "Not likely to happen. Without a national debt the government would be forced forever to live within its means. And it has hardly even been able to do that."

Ever hear of Charles Pinckney, Rufus King, William Wirt, Neal Dow, James G. Birney or Gerrit Smith? Except for the fickleness, or wisdom, of the voters, history could have been very different.

For these are some of the men who ran for the Presidency, and didn't make it.

There are many others whose names could be added to the list, and a few more will join them after the current campaign. Some losers went on to gain high office after their defeat and others achieved a degree of fame in other fields.

Many of them, like those mentioned, have received little attention in chronicles of the past.

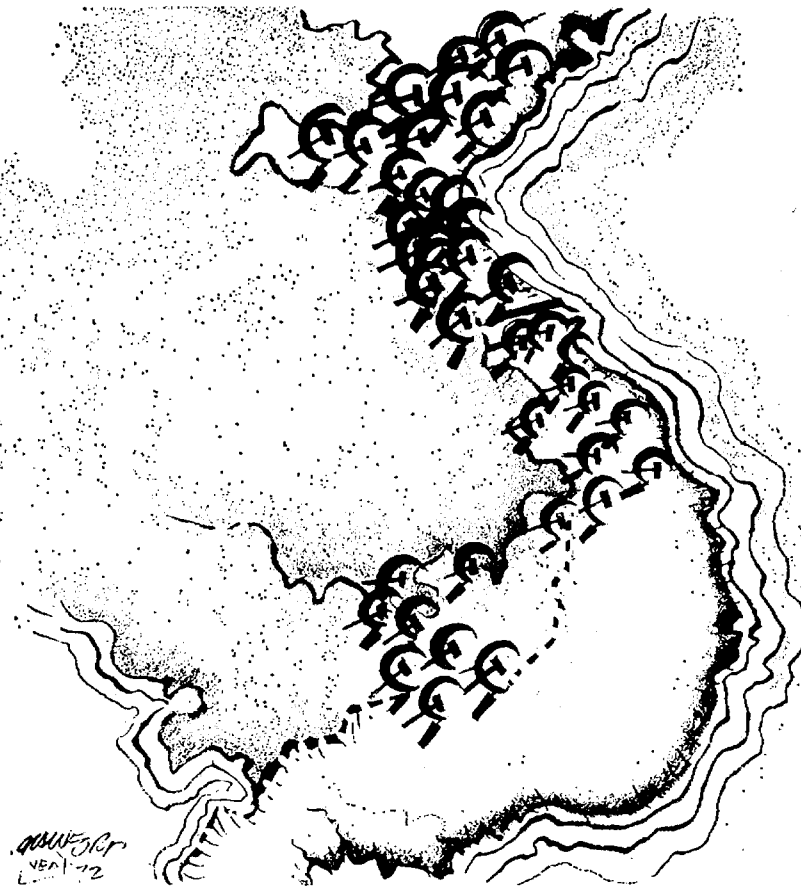

Many others, no doubt, have similar ambitions but never make it even to the also-ran status in the presidential sweepstakes. The odds against making the race have increased in recent years unless the prospective candidate commands a sizable fortune.

For every successful Presidential candidate, there is at least one who might have been, except for the voters.

Church and concert organs differ greatly from theater and carousel organs, the National Geographic Society says. The latter imitate the sounds of band instruments, complete with bass drum and glockenspiel, while the former are designed for clarity of tone in playing liturgical and classical music.

In one second the sun radiates more energy than man has used since the beginning of civilization, National Geographic says.

PROUD PARENTS GIVE THANKS

Editor,

Being the parents of Michael and Gregory Hill, we feel we must express how proud we are of the boys and thank God that they didn't do the opposite.

We like many parents are trying to teach our children, (all seven), that if we don't look out for our fellow man, black and white, there is little hope for us. Our family feels if we don't put our faith in humanity and God, who should we put it in.

So many parents fail to realize that the child they fail to chastise may be someone's victim, maybe us. We read and see on T. V. and hear on radio everyday how humans are downing their fellow man, because of differences and we wonder why don't they realize that there have to be differences, but, there also has to be love and trust.

We feel sorry for the parents of the boys who got in trouble, whoever they may be, because we can imagine how they must feel. So, being the parents of Michael and Gregory we say thanks to all the Mikes and Greg's of the world, because there are many many more and thank God.

We would like to thank all the wonderful people who took time out to congratulate Mike and Greg, so many that we won't call them by name, for fear we may miss some. A special thanks to commissioner Carl Brown and the young black man whose name I didn't get, because I wasn't home at the time he came by and personally rewarded Mike and Greg. God Bless you all.

NEWMETHOD IS LIKED

Editor,

I would like to voice my opinion on the recent letter in your paper concerning the new education method which is going to be tried at New Troy elementary school next year. As a concerned parent I believe that if discipline and respect are taught at home, there would be less trouble at school.

And another thing, our children are not going to be used as guinea pigs, this program has been proven successful in many other schools throughout the country.

Since the learning level is low in New Troy, its about time something is done.

Nothing will work if it is not given the proper chance.

WILLING TO CHANGE VIEWS

Editor,

Due to last night's letter in your paper I'm writing to voice my opinion on the matter of better education in the New Troy elementary school.

I was brought up with the old methods of teaching, as my father was a teacher for 21 years, but I am still willing to change my views towards new methods of better education.

I feel that all interested parents from the New Troy elementary school area should attend the presentation for better education in New Troy.

But I feel, as a concerned parent, that education should progress the same as everything else in our society today.

U.S. Bomb Halt During Nixon's Moscow Visit?

PARIS (AP) — The newspaper Le Figaro reported from Moscow today that the United States will halt bombing of North Vietnam by B52s as well as naval bombardment of the country during President Nixon's trip to Moscow.

Correspondent Robert Lacontre, without citing the source of his information, wrote that the Russians have received assurance of the halt from Nixon. The president is scheduled to visit the Soviet Union beginning May 22.

Wallace Giving Senators Jitters

DETROIT (NEA) —

Alabama's Gov. George Wallace is, in his own mind, so serious a candidate for the presidency that he doesn't have to say so any more. Charged up for Michigan's May 16 Democratic primary, he leaves that out and just acts the part.

Things have gone so well for him here a couple of times that he has held an evening doubleheader, giving two speeches back to back to take care of overflow crowds.

Not since Florida has he had his rivals so jittery. Here we are in Michigan, where Democratic party politics is supposedly progressive, issue-oriented, influenced heavily by powerful United Auto Workers' leaders and others in labor. But Sens. Hubert Humphrey and George McGovern treat the place as if it were a giant suburb of Tallahassee.

Even in a year when predictions are so hazardous, forecasts of a Wallace victory in Michigan are easy to come by. You can, of course, find some cagey appraisers who say he'll be caught and passed, most likely by Humphrey.

Wallace himself, taken lately to offering reporters finely tuned analyses, suggests he might drop a little here by voting time.

You'd never guess he felt that if you watched him perform, as I did again the other evening in Flint. He was more fired up than in Florida, where he knew he was going to win big.

His partisans, packing the floor and four tiers of balconies in Flint's auditorium, cheered lustily as he announced his Tennessee primary victory. They'd been revved up by the Rev. George Mangum, Wallace's chesty master of ceremonies, who told them they were going to be on live television.

On stage in the supporting cast for the evening were a released prisoner of war from Vietnam, John Sexton, and one Caleb Smallwood, who carried a little cardboard box filled with the names of 4,700 Wallace backers.

Wearing a large white and red paper flower on his lapel, Wallace told his fans he was going to the Democratic convention at Miami Beach with "more delegates than meet the eye."

The fact is that halfway through the 23 primaries plenty meets the eye.

His speech was his usual flamboyant blast against Democratic party candidates and spokesmen who he says have "kowtowed to exotic noisemakers and elitists and ignored the average citizen."

Flint's average citizens rose happily from their red plush chairs as he told them:

"You are the ones. You are the kings and queens of American politics today. The average man has more political clout than ever before. Because of these 1972 primary results."

The governor, mindful of studies a while back that show many Michigan voters moved almost to hysteria in opposition to school busing for racial balance, thundered the obvious: He has got more issue stands to their liking than any of his primary rivals.

Of them he said: "They're too busy taxing the average man to death and giving the money to a bunch of welfare loafers and Hottentots (foreign aid)."

Jeffrey Horn

Wallace In There With Best Of 'Em

One of the peculiar things about the current Presidential primary campaign remains the universal and indeed unquestioned agreement that Gov. George Wallace is not a "serious" or "credible" or "viable" candidate for the Democratic nomination.

I am not advocating a Wallace nomination, let alone a Wallace Presidency, and yet, simply on the face of it, the current agreement that he could not possibly be the Democratic nominee is an odd one, even if true. For it is also true that his performance in the primaries so far has been virtually as impressive as that of the accepted or "legitimate" candidates.

Wallace won as convincingly in Florida as McGovern did in Massachusetts, and as convincingly in Tennessee as McGovern did in Wisconsin.

Wallace was impressive in Pennsylvania, where Humphrey won, and he also did well in Ohio. He ran very well in Indiana. In Wisconsin, Wallace spent $366 and still came in ahead of the "real" candidate, Muskie, who spent $473,000.

And yet, despite all this, not one of the national polls, so far as I know, has tested Wallace in a race against Nixon as the regular Democratic nominee. Gallup, Harris and the others have tested Muskie, McGovern, Humphrey and Kennedy — who denies that he is even a candidate — and they have even tested Lindsay, but not Wallace.

Perhaps the managers of the national polls, either consciously or merely instinctively, do not desire to confer upon George Wallace the sort of legitimacy that inclusion in a national poll would suggest. In effect, such inclusion would be thinking the unthinkable. Perhaps the national polls fear that Wallace might even do rather well if the voters were allowed to perceive him, even speculatively, as the regular Democratic nominee.

Now it is usually said that no candidate with Wallace's racist background could do well in a Presidential election, and it is true that Wallace at one point vowed to maintain "segregation forever."

On the other hand, men do change, and everyone agrees that Wallace has now greatly broadened his appeal. His stress on things like taxation, busing, and remote bureaucracy has had a powerful effect on the campaigns of his Democratic rivals. Who can be so sure that Wallace, a born politician, if there ever was one, has not outgrown his provincialism and racism?

Neither Williams is to speak nor is Miss Kizer scheduled to be graduated, said LMC officials, chalking the matter up as a student hoax.

Berrien Springs Band Boosters Open Fund Drive

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A fund raising drive to finance attendance of Berrien Springs high school band members at band camps is being launched by the band boosters here.

The boosters said attendance at the camps better prepares the band members and makes for a better quality band.

According to the band boosters, the goal this year is to raise enough money to send as many students as possible to the band camp. The goal for next year is to raise enough to send the entire band.

An ice cream social is scheduled to be held Wednesday, from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. at Wicker's Dairy Queen establishment on US 31, to launch the fund raising effort. The senior band is to be present to provide music, according to Mrs. George Hampel, publicity chairman. The dairy queen products used during the social are to be donated, she said.

Benton Board Of Trustees To Meet Wednesday

The Benton township board of trustees will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the municipal building, instead of Tuesday as regularly scheduled, because of the primary election.

Big Event Ruined: Antenna Missing

It was a big morning Friday for Mrs. Robert Yarbrough, when servicemen came to her home at 986 Thomas, to install a new color television set.

All leads were connected, and the set was turned on. Enthusiasm cooled when the UHF channels didn't come in on the set.

Benton township police were called, after an outside inspection showed that the UHF antenna had been stolen from the roof. Mrs. Yarbrough told officers the roof is flat and anyone could climb onto it.

Two Hurt In 4-Car Pile-Up

Benton township police said two persons were treated and released from Mercy hospital after a collision involving four cars on M-139 near Britain avenue about 5:45 p.m. Friday.

Reported injured were one of the drivers, Arister F. Hicks, 47, of 349 Ohio, Benton Harbor, one of the drivers; and Clara Hill, 54, of 222 Collins, Benton township, a passenger in a taxicab driven by Valthe Adell, 18, of 363 Pipestone, Benton Harbor. Police said the taxi is owned by Twin City Cab Lines. Adell was reported unhurt.

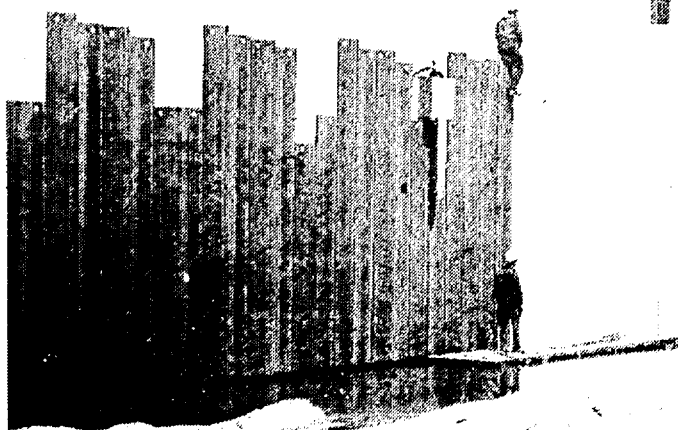

The other drivers were identified as Debra Adcock, 17, Meadowbrook road, Route 1, Benton Harbor; and Robert Morrow, 28, of 410 Blue Ridge, Benton township.

Police said all vehicles were moving north on M-139, when Adell slowed for an auto in front of him, and Hicks, behind Adell, also slowed. The Adcock car struck the rear of the Hicks auto, triggering the collisions, police said. No summonses were issued, police indicated.

State Voters Face Complicated Ballot

New Michigan Primary Law Result Of 'Hybrid' Compromise

BY JERRY KRIEGER
County-Farm Editor
Southwestern Michigan
voters who go to the polls next Tuesday for Michigan's first presidential primary in many years may find some room for confusion when they mark their ballots, without a little advance explanation.

The ballots will have two categories: 1. Presidential candidates for the Democratic and Republican parties, plus an

"uncommitted" spot on the American Independent Party;
and 2. delegates to the county conventions of the three parties.

Misunderstanding could develop from the fact the candidates for precinct delegates to the county conventions will have either the name of the presidential candidate they are committed to or the word "uncommitted"

immediately below their names.

As precinct delegates they will not cast ballots for presidential candidates. Their chief purpose is to conduct the county conventions during their terms.

The votes cast directly for the presidential candidates will determine how the parties'
delegations from Michigan
vote at the national conventions. Under the new state presidential primary law, each candidate who gets five per cent or more of the total Michigan primary vote for his party must get that same proportionate share of the Michigan delegation votes at the national convention—at least for the first two rounds of convention balloting.

The commitment or "un-commitment" of the precinct
delegates on Tuesday's ballots
actually has little or no practical effect on how the Michigan delegation to the national convention will vote,
according to both Tat Parish and F.A. (Mike) Jones. Parish is former county Democratic chairman and Jones is county
GOP chief.

It was only because of a compromise in the state legislature that the presidential primary and the election of precinct delegates come together at the same time on the same ballot. Both Parish and Jones agreed the law was a "hybrid" of two different purposes, and both suggested it left something to be desired.

Voters Tuesday also will find two other matters on their ballots. Both are proposed state constitutional amendments.

Proposal A would authorize the legislature to authorize lotteries and permit the sale of lottery tickets.

Proposal B would permit
members of the legislature to resign during a term to accept another civil office to which they are elected or appointed.

The polls will be open from 7
a.m. to 8 p.m.

Cycle Crash Injury Fatal To Griffith

Joseph Clark Griffith, 44, of St. Joseph, the former lifeguard who tried four times
to swim across lower Lake Michigan without success in the late 1950's, died Friday of injuries received in a motorcycle crash early Thursday morning.

St. Joseph
police said
Griffith died at 9:25 p.m. at
South Bend
Memorial
hospital. Death initially was attributed to a
skull fracture,
but an autopsy
was to be performed, police
said.

Griffith was injured about 2:40 a.m. Thursday, when a motorcycle he was driving northbound on Lake Shore
drive, near Cleveland avenue,
struck a construction site
flasher light and skidded about 75 feet. Police said they are investigating to determine if the flasher light was off the roadway, or placed partially on the travel portion.

Griffith's death was the 21st
Berrien county traffic death so far this year. Last year at this date, 17 persons had died on Berrien county roads.

Griffith's death was the second this year in the city of St. Joseph. Another St. Joseph man died in a one-vehicle accident on March 31. Until that time, the city had not had a traffic death since Aug. 22, 1969, a total of 946 days.

Griffith, who resided at 517 Lake street, was a lifeguard in the 1950's, when he listed a successful swim across the big lake as a lifetime ambition.

One of his attempts from Chicago to Michigan City in July, 1958, was almost successful. He fell short by about three miles, with his destination in sight. Actually,
he had swum the total distance of more than 30 miles. A navigational error, however, lengthened the course and he was pulled from the water.

An Egyptian Army major
later made the swim from Chicago to St. Joseph.

Griffith currently had been employed in the maintenance department of Whirlpool Corp.

Mr. Griffith was born Dec.
13, 1927, in Mishawaka, Ind.
Surviving are his widow, the former Susan Scott, whom he married on Jan. 14, 1972; two daughters by a previous marriage, Kimberly and Jane of Benton Harbor and his mother, Mrs. Mabel T.
Dickenson of St. Joseph.

JOSEPH GRIFFITH
With Daughter Kim

Mr. Griffith was a marine veteran and a member of Benton Harbor Elks Lodge, No.
544.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Monday in the Dey Brothers Funeral home. Rev.
Richard Selmer, pastor of St.
Peter's United Church Christ,
St. Joseph, will officiate.
Cremation will follow the service.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

Store Damaged

Benton Harbor firemen said that grease that ignited on a stove caused damage to the stove and smoke in the kitchen
of the Eli Burton home, 804 Buss avenue. Firemen were called at 11:35 a.m. Friday.

UNUSUAL VISITOR: Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Willmeng of rural Watervliet have an unusual neighbor—an albino robin. The rare bird is all white except for its breast, which has normal coloring, according to Mrs.

Willmeng. The mother robin has enjoyed the Willmeng's cherry orchard so much that she decided to make her nest in one of the trees. (Staff photos by Harry

Berrien Puts 216 To Work On U.S. Jobs

Two hundred and 16 down, 13
to go for federal Emergency Employment Act (EEA) jobs in Berrien county, reports the program's administrator here,
Berrien County Coordinator
Roger Petrie.

A total of 216 EEA posts have been filled, leaving 13 vacant and ready for applicants in Benton Harbor, Benton
township, Benton Harbor
schools, St. Joseph, Berrien General hospital and the county road commission, he
said.

They're open to the unemployed, with veterans and minority group members
getting preference.

Benton Harbor has openings
for a tree trimmer and an engineering aide. Benton Harbor schools can use a teacher's aide. County road commission seeks a party surveyor and a light equipment operator. St. Joseph can use an assistant city clerk. Berrien General hospital needs three licensed practical nurses, one registered nurse, and one nurse's assistant. Benton township has openings for two laborers.

Restrictions may exist on the employee's place of residence, Petrie noted. Applicants should contact the hiring agency, not Petrie, he added.

State To Take Bids On Drilling

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—For
the first time in two years, the state of Michigan will take bids on oil and natural gas drilling leases for some 480,000 acres of the northern lower peninsula.

Sale in Lansing on June 19 of new leases marks the first resumption of drilling on state lands since the legislature and Gov. William G. Milliken called for a halt in late 1970.

KEEPING WATCH: The albino robin keeps a close watch over her nest as staff photographer Harry Smith closes in for another view of the bird.

FOUR BLUE EGGS: Four baby blue eggs can be seen in the nest built by the mother albino robin. The Willmengs are anxiously awaiting for the baby birds to break through their shells to see if they will have any characteristics of their mother.

MAY MAGNIFICENCE: Cold winter weather, which wiped out the local peach crop and damaged other plants, left unscathed this large magnolia at the Dorvan
Stover family home, 114 North Kimmel street, Berrien

Springs. In fact, Mrs. Stover relates, the pink blossoms are at their prettiest this year. Passersby stop by to offer comments, she said, and some take pictures of it.
